A Snug Verdict.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
CHICAGO, May 9.—Miss Oesie Vandeventer, of Buffalo, N. Y., in the United States district court, this morning, recovered a verdict for $6,500 against the Chicago City Railway company, which operates the cable system. She claimed that while in the act of entering a car the signal was given to start and she was dragged along some distance, sustaining injuries of a serious nature, from which she can never recover. The company set up a plea that she attempted to enter the car while it was in motion. She sued in all for $10,000.

Capital and Labor.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 9.—The iron manufacturers of the west are in session here considering the scale of wages presented by the amalgamated association.
No conclusion has yet been reached but the opposition to the scale offered seems to be unanimous. A number of those present favor a suspension of work rather than grant the prices demanded in the scale. The meeting will probably be in session until Monday evening.

Illinois Winter Wheat.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
CHICAGO, May 9.—The Illinois department of Agriculture's latest returns from its 600 correspondents, published today, show that as to wheat the prospects are encouraging for about three-fourths of an average yield in the northern division of the state. This division, however, contains but 51,000 acres of winter wheat. The late seeding of winter wheat in the central division of the state exceeded one million acres. Nearly three-fourths of the wheat is reported winter killed and the average condition of the growing crop gives encouragement for only about a half average. The late seeding of winter wheat in the southern division of the state amounted to 1,203, 551 acres. Nearly two-thirds of the area of wheat in the southern division is reported winter killed.

Shot His Head Off.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
ST. LOUIS, May 9.—Frank Kuberleech, living ten miles from Carlinville, Ill., quarrelled with his wife Thursday evening and beat her over the head with a club until she was unconscious. Thinking he had killed her, he took his shot gun, placed the muzzle under his chin, and blew the top of his head off. The woman will probably die. The couple had been married twenty-seven years.

The Cold Wave.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
BRANTFORD, Ont., May 9. It is snowing hard this morning.

CLEVELAND, O., May 9.—Snow has fallen at intervals throughout the forenoon but melted, however, as fast as it fell.

DETROIT, Mich., May 9.—There has been several blizzards of snow here today, but it melted as fast as it fell.

Steamer Burned.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
LEXINGTON, Ill., May 9.—The steamship known as the Beyer & Cornucopia, now owned by the Singer & Talcott company and valued at $15,000 or $20,000, was burned last night. The fire is supposed to be the work of the striking quarry men.

Failed.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
NEW YORK, May 9.—Jeremiah M.
Pelton, the piano dealer, made an assignment today with preferences of $18,241.
He is rated at $40,000.

The Exports.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
NEW YORK, May 9.—The total imports of merchandise to this port during the past week were $4,505,844, and of dry goods, $1,426,096.

Literary Men.

By Cable to THE SENTINEL.
LONDON, May 9.—Professor Huxley is in feeble health and has been obliged to cease work.

Mr. Froide is preparing an autobiographic sketch of Thomas Lecky. He has completed his history of the eighteenth century.

General Grant.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
NEW YORK, May 9.—General Grant passed a good night. During the day he will do some work upon his book.
Dr. Douglas remained all night and left the house at 9 o'clock this morning.

A Negro Lynched.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
CINCINNATI, May 9.—A special from Tusculum, Alabama, says: "Last night a negro named Jordan, who had attempted an outrage upon Miss Davis, daughter of a prominent farmer, but who had jumped from the window as Mr. Davis shot at him, was afterwards caught and lynched by a mob. It was found that Davis shot had wounded him in the ear."

The Southern Hotel Murder.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
ST. LOUIS, May 9.—The register of the Southern hotel was taken by the police today to compare the signature of Dr. W. H. Lennox Maxwell, the mur-derer of C. Arthur Preller, with the inscription, "So Perish all Traitors to the Great Cause," found in the trunk containing the body. Experts in hand writing examined both and declared they were written by the same man. All testimony necessary for the extradition is now ready but no agent for the state to go after the murderer has been selected.

THE MARKETS.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
CHICAGO, May 9.—The grain markets continue to exhibit a strong bull tendency. Wheat was firm and higher at the opening on the publication of the government April estimate of the probable winter wheat yield, showing a decrease and confirming the reports from several states. Reports coming in of inquiry were increased by the cold snap. June wheat opened at 90¢ and advanced to 91¢, or nearly one cent over the closing figure of yesterday. June corn, 48¢.
June oats, 31¢. June pork, $11.25.
June lard, $6.87 1/2.

NEW YORK MARKET.

NEW YORK, May 9.—The wheat market opened bullish, in sympathy with the west and options were up 1/4¢ per bushel, with a fair degree of activity.

Lumber Burned.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
CHICAGO, May 8.—Shortly after noon today a spark from a passing locomotive set fire in the heart of a great pine lumber yard district, which lies along both sides of the south branch of the Chicago river, and near the southwestern city limits. Bounding upon this district is a wooden built portion of the city, known as Bridgeport and Union Stock Yards, with its acres of wooden sheds and pens filled with cattle, hogs and sheep. A fierce wind was blowing from the west and the flames spread with great rapidity.
The entire fire department was called out and began fighting the flames, but the 20 or 30 streams of water which could be thrown upon them had little or no effect as far as staying their progress was concerned. Starting upon the west side of the river, the flames ate up all the lumber between Thirty-fifth and Thirty-eighth streets, an area of about 400 by 200 feet. It set fire to a canal boat moored at the dock and it floated across the river, which is 180 feet wide at this point, and set fire to the lumber on the east bank which covered about an equal area, and this with one or two planing mills was consumed. Brands were carried eastward and set fire to several small frame houses occupied by the employees in the lumber district. The fire department, however, made a stand at this point and succeeded in preventing a spread of the flames into the residence district. The fight continued throughout the afternoon, and it was nearly 7 o'clock before the conflagration was brought under control, having practically burned itself out to the limits of the immediate district in which it began. A heavy rain during most of the afternoon was of great assistance. The entire area burned is 870 by 2,300 feet. The aggregate of lumber destroyed was 45,000,000 feet, valued at $300,000.

The individual losses and insurances are as follows: Chicago Lumber Co., 23,000,000 feet of lumber, valued at $100,000, insurance, $300,000; Bigelow Bro., 10,000,000 feet of lumber, valued at $175,000, insurance, $125,000; A. J. Hastings & Co., 5,000,000 feet of lumber valued at $85,000, insurance, $60,000; J. W. Hinckley, planing mill, loss $20,000, insurance, $12,000; five cottages aggregate a loss of about $10,000, insurance about $5,000.

KEEN CHAGRIN.

It is Evident that Russia has Hum-boggled England in the Arbitration Business.

Herat is not Mentioned in the Dispatches, and the Matter is Complicated.

Gladstone Urged to Make Another Speech Worthy a British Minister by the Globe.

THIRULESOME.

The Arbitration Assumes a Bad Phase.

By Cable to THE SENTINEL.
LONDON, May 9.—The Times doubts the existence of any arrangements or dispatches respecting an Anglo-Russian agreement, of March 16, sufficiently definite for the purpose of arbitration. Referring to the report from Vienna, that Herat is not mentioned in the negotiations between England and Russia, the Times says: "If the government thinks the fate of Herat may be left to the caprice of the ameer, the treachery of the local governor, or the success of a pre-tender, the ministry had better tell the country their opinion and either give place to others more forceful or at least from boasting their money-peddle and half-hearted measures which deceive nobody and least of all Russia."

The Standard hopes that the cruel and patronizing bluntness of the official messenger's statement will sting Gladstone into another speech worthy of a British minister. Herat is now the main question. No Russian pledge, however binding, which would only relieve us from a diplomatic squabble ought to prevent us from taking action to forestall eventualities.

Canada evidently has a long and bloody war in prospect before the suppression of the revolt in the northwest can be accomplished.

THE VOTE OF CREDIT.

The greatest anxiety is felt about the result of the vote of credit which will come up in the house of commons Monday although it is unlikely the result will be adverse to the ministry, especially if Lord Hartington's statement of the Son-dan policy, proves satisfactory to the liberals. The current rumors of the re-signment of Earl Dufferin, arise from the inference that he disagrees with the government's policy and the fact that Dufferin accepted his position with the understanding that he was to take the full responsibility of the government in India.

DIFFERENT.

It is rumored that a Russian dispatch by courier differs somewhat from the summary of the first received by telegraph, but it is expected that the discrepancies of the statement can be easily reconciled. It is estimated that almost half of the vote of credit has already been absorbed in the war preparations so far ordered, which are now too far advanced to be rescinded. The work of equipment for the Sondan, however, has almost ceased, the greatest efforts being directed to the naval armament.

A PEACE POINTER.

LONDON, May 9.—A despatch from St. Petersburg states that the Journal de St. Petersburg today declares that Russia will shortly open negotiations with England for the appointment of a representative of the Russian government to Calcutta.

THE ARBITRATION.

LONDON, May 9.—The arbitration scheme is not making rapid progress towards consummation, although Russia has not revealed from her agreement to submit the question in dispute to arbitration, yet it is announced that a delay is likely to occur in the preliminary stages of the affair. Before arbitration as possible it is necessary for both calculation to agree upon the specific details to be submitted to the arbitrator. This may consume considerable time.

NOT YET.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 9.—The Journal de St. Petersburg alluding to the Marquis de Salisbury that if Turkey should be placed under pressure by any power, England would have the right to deregulate the closing of Danubian, expressing the belief that no other signatory power would sanction such an infraction of the treaty of Paris.

LONDON, May 8.—A special dispatch from Calcutta to the Times says: "The news of the peace arrangements have created dismay here. Peace so obtained is considered dangerous and humiliating. The reports which reach here from the northwest provinces and from Afghanistan agree in representing the vacillation of the ministry of ruinous to British prestige."

In the commons Sir Stafford Noth-cote gave notice that when the consolidated fund bill comes up for a second reading he will move a fresh vote of censure. The wording of the motion will be substantially as follows:

"Resolved, That the house having shown its readiness to vote supplies, will refuse to consent to the vote of £11,000,000 until it has been informed of the government's present policy and of the purposes to which the money granted is to be applied."

The Russian ambassador imparted to Earl Grantley today the substance of a note from De Giers in reference to the basis of the Afghan frontier negotiations. It is reported that the note is not satisfactory to the British government. A conference on the frontier question will be held Tuesday. The differences between the two governments as to the terms upon which the question shall be referred to arbitration are becoming greater. The statement of the Official Messenger, of St.
Petersburg, that the dispute has submitted to arbitration only in case of necessity is semi-officially declared inaccurate. Granville in discussions with De Staal holds that Russia's acceptance of arbitration must be absolute. The conservatives will muster their full strength in the commons Monday to support the Northcott measure.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 8.—The governor of eastern Siberia reports that bands of armed Chinese have crossed the Russian frontier and surprised many Cosack villages. The extent of their depredations is not stated.

DJONGORA, May 8.—Reports reach here to the effect that the mahdi's forces suffered fresh defeat at the hands of insurgents in Kordofan, aided by the garrison at Senaar. A remnant of the mahdi's forces has returned, according to these reports, to Abuhars.
The mahdi himself is at Omderman near Khartoum; but he has only a few troops attached to the insurgents.

PARIS, May 8.—Robert M. McLane, United States minister to France has arrived here.

Rebellious Reil.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
ST. PAUL, May 8.—A Battleford dispatch says that Col. Otter has not decided on his plans for a future attack on Poundmakers. It must be renewed but it cannot be done without reinforcements. The scouts who were out to reconnoitre the ground returned today and reported them still at Cut Knife hill, where Saturday's engagement was fought. It is not known whether Big Bear has joined Poundmaker. The wounded are all keeping well in comfortable quarters with the best attention. It is reported to-night that a letter has been received in camp from a priest in Poundmakers reserve stating that the Indian loss Saturday was fifteen. Two seven pounders became disabled through the trucks breaking down during the engagement and caused a withdrawal before that time. The troops retired in perfect order and well covered by perfect generalship. The battle lasted seven hours. The men had not slept the night before and had no breakfast.
Several fell asleep while lying on the skirmishing lines when the guns had been silenced for some time.

A JURYMEN ARRESTED.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
NEW YORK, May 8.—Harvey Munsell, an insurance broker and eleventh juror on the trial of Richard Short, for the attempted murder of Captain Phelan in O'Donovan Rossa's office on January 9, was arrested this afternoon on an order issued by Judge Van Brent, who presided over the trial, charging Munsell with a misdemeanor and contempt of court as a juror.
It has been discovered by District Attorney Martine that on several days before the trial Munsell was in consultation with Short in the Tomb and that during the recess of the court Wednesday, when the trial was pending, he visited O'Donovan Rossa's office and had a talk with Pat Joyce. Munsell will be indicted on Monday. The district attorney had his own detectives and Pinkerton men watching the jurors from the time they were imprisoned. Neither party of the watchers knowing that they had rivals in the case. The warden and a keeper of the Tombs as well as a prisoner who Munsell went to see and two tenants in Rossa's building, are witnesses. Each set of detectives made a similar report. The district attorney is confident that he can convict Munsell.

Another Mysterious Express Rob-

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 9.—A package carried by the American Express company, which came in from the west yesterday, billed to Morris, Ind., and supposed to contain $1,000, when opened was found to be nothing but paper.
Where the substitution occurred has not been ascertained.

Honorable Appointments.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
WASHINGTON, May 9.—The president today appointed the following board of visitors to the United States military academy: Hon. John Biglow, of New York; Chas. R. Godman, of Massachusetts; Gen. Fitz Hugh Lee, of Virginia; Hon. George Hoadly, of Ohio; James C. Tappan, of Arkansas; Prof.
Edward M. Holden, of Wisconsin, and George C. Miller, of Nebraska.

The president to-day appointed Lewis C. Bartlett, of Birmingham, N. Y., to be second deputy commissioner of pensions, vice N. P. Loveridge, resigned.

Secretary Manning to-day requested the resignation of Col. T. N. Burrill, chief of the bureau of engraving and printing. E. O. Graves, assistant treasurer of the United States, has been appointed to fill the vacancy. Mr. Graves entered the treasury department in 1883 as a $1,100 clerk.

The president this afternoon appointed A. M. Kuhn, of Indiana, surveyor of customs for the port of Indianapolis.

COMMANDER KANE.

Admiral Jouett recently ordered a court of inquiry at Aspinwall to investigate the charges made against Commander Kane to the effect that he did not perform his duty at the time of the burning of that city. The finding of the court has been received at the navy department and is as follows:
"That the American flag was insulted as alleged by the seizure of the steam ship, Colon, and the forcible arrest and imprisonment of a number of American citizens, including an officer of the United States navy in uniform and Mr. Robert K. Wright, jr., United States consul at Aspinwall, which however we find to have been done on the 30th day of March, under orders which in our opinion were not revolutionary, but were part of an armed mob acting under the orders of one, Pedro Preston, who was denounced by both the existing political parties of the state of Panama, as a robber and an assassin who called himself a revolutionist to cover his base designs.
The conduct of Commander Kane, in an opinion (based upon the testimony of all the witnesses who have been before the court, as well as those who have testified by deposition) impudently proper. He acted with discretion, with judgment, with firmness and in accordance with his orders. Had Commander Kane acted otherwise there is no doubt that the lives of the American citizens imprisoned by Preston would have been sacrificed, with no benefit to the Americans or to other foreigners, either in the saving of life or property. The burning of Aspinwall would have followed the murder of Preston's prisoners. In all probability other American citizens would have been victims of Preston's malicious fury."

THE PRESIDENT DECLINES.
The president declined the invitation of the Georgia delegation to visit Atlanta during the session of the commercial convention the latter part of the present month. The president's official duties will not permit him to leave Washington.

The Trunk Murder Mystery.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.
PITTSBURGH, May 9.—(Chicago), charged with the murder of Filippo Caruso, left for Chicago this morning in charge of Detective Bonfield. He was confronted by employees of the Union station to see if they could identify him as the man who had been watching the trunk. They failed to do so. It was afterwards learned that Chicago went to New York from Chicago via the Lake Shore road, and did not pass through this city.

WHITE SEAL BURNING OIL

The New York board of health estimates that about five hundred have been destroyed by the explosive qualities of petroleum. If every house hold would adopt the White Seal oil for family use, some of these unfortunate accidents would occur.

has none of the defects usually found in common oils. It cannot be over-heated, does not char the wick, will not smoke, emits no offensive odor, and prevents the breaking of chimneys.

WHITE SEAL BURNING OIL

Opera-Houses, Bowling-Alleys, Skating-Rinks and All Styles of Amusements.
Recalling the Time When Samson Pulled Down the Temple.

Dr. Talmage preached in the Brooklyn Tabernacle last Sunday morning on the subject, "Opera-houses, theaters, bowling alleys, skating rinks, and all styles of amusement, good and bad, on trial." The opening hymn was:

"Awake, my soul, stretch every nerve, And press with vigor on."

The text was from Judges, xvi, 25:

"And it came to pass when their hearts were merry that they said: Call for Samson, that he may make us sport. And they called for Samson out of the prison house, and he made them sport." Following is the sermon in full:

There were three thousand people assembled in the Temple of Dagon. They had come to make sport of the eyeless Samson. They were all ready for the entertainment. They began to clap and pound impatient for the amusement to begin, and they cried: "Fetch him out! Fetch him out!" Yonder I see the blind old giant coming, led by the hand of a child into the very midst of the Temple. At his first appearance there goes up a shout of laughter and derision. The blind old giant pretends he is tired and wants to rest himself against the pillars of the house. So he says to the lad who leads him: "Show me where the main pillars are." The lad does so. Then the strong man puts his right hand on one pillar, and with the mightiest push that mortal ever made throws himself forward until the whole house comes down with a thunderous crash, grinding the audience like grapes in a wine-press.

"And so it came to pass when their hearts were merry that they said, 'Call for Samson, that he may make us sport.' And they called for Samson out of the prison-house, and he made them sport." In other words, there are amusements that are destructive and bring down disaster and death upon the heads of those who practice them. While they laugh and cheer they die. The three thousand who perished that day in Gaza are as nothing compared with the tens of thousands who have been destroyed body, mind and soul by bad amusements and by good amusements carried to excess.

In this course of sermons I am now preaching, you must have noticed that I have no sympathy with ecclesiastical strait jackets or with wholesale denunciation of amusements to which many are pledged. I believe the Church of God has made a tremendous mistake in trying to suppress the sportfulness of youth and drive out from men their love of amusement. If God ever implanted anything in us, He implanted this desire. But instead of providing for this demand of our nature the Church of God has for the main part ignored it. As in a riot the mayor plants a battery at the end of the street and has it fired off, so that every thing is out down that happens to stand in the range, the good as well as the bad, so there are men in the church who plant their batteries of condemnation and fire away indiscriminately. Every thing is condemned. There are a great who denounce ball-playing. They hate puzzles. They despise charades. They abhor tableaux. They say: "Away with all parlor games!" They talk as if they would like to have our youth dressed in blue uniform, like the children of an orphan asylum, and march down the path of life to the tune of the "Dead March in Saul." They hate a blue ash or a peach in the hair or a tasseled garter, and think a man ready for Sing Sing who utters a commandment. Young Men's Christian Associations of the country are doing a glorious work. They have fine reading-rooms, and all inducements are of the best kind, and are now adding gymnasiums and bowling-alleys where, without any evil surroundings, our young men may get physical as well as spiritual improvement. We are dwindling away to a narrow chested, weak-armed, feeble-minded race. When God calls us to a work in which He wants physical as well as spiritual athletes I would to God that the time might soon come when in all our colleges and theological seminaries, as at Princeton a gymnasium shall be established. We spend seven years of hard study in preparation for the ministry, and come out with bronchitis and dyspepsia and liver complaint, and then crawl up into the pulpit, and the people say: "Doesn't he look heavenly?" Because he looks sickly. Let the Church of God direct rather than attempt to suppress the desire for amusement. The best men that the world ever new have had their sports. William Williford trundled hoop with his children. Martin Luther helped to dress the Christmas tree. Ministers have picked quarts. Philanthropists have gone skating. Prime ministers have played ball.

This church to-day is filled with men and women who have in their souls unmeasured resources of sportfulness and frolic. Show me a man who never lights up with sportfulness and has no sympathy with the recreations of others, and I will show you a man who is a stumbling block to the kingdom of God. Such men are caricatures of religion. They lead young people to think that a man is good in proportion as he groans and frowns and looks sorrowful, and that the height of a man's christian stature is in proportion to the length of his face. I would trade off five hundred such men for one bright-faced, radiant christian on whose face are the words, "Rejoice evermore." Between here and Fulton ferry every morning by his cheerful face, he preaches fifty sermons. I will go further and say that I have no confidence in a man who makes a religion of his gloomy looks. That kind of a man always turns out badly. I would not want him for the treasurer of an orphan asylum. The orphan would suffer. Amongst forty people whom I received into the church at one communion there was only one applicant of whose piety I was suspicious. He had the longest story to tell; had seen the most visions and gave an experience so rapturous and profound that all the other applicants were discouraged. I was not surprised in a year after to learn that he had run off with the funds of the bank with which he was connected. Who is this black angel that you call religion—wings black, feet black, feathers black? Our religion is a bright angel—feet bright, eyes bright, wings bright. Taking her place in the soul, she pulls a rope that reaches to the skies and sets all the bells of heaven chiming. There are some persons who when talking to a minister always feel it politic to look legitimate. Go forth, O people, to your lawful amusement! God means you to be happy. But when there are so many sources of innocent pleasure, why tamper with anything that is dangerous and polluting? Why stop our ears to a heaven full of songsters to listen to the hiss of a dragon? Why turn back from the mountain side all abloom with wild flowers and adash with the nimble torrents, and with blistered feet attempt to climb the hot sides of Cotopaxi?

Now, all opera houses, theaters, bowling alleys, skating rinks, and all styles of amusement, good and bad, I put on trial to-day, and judge of them by certain cardinal principles. First, you may judge of any amusement by its healthful result, or by its baleful reaction. There are people who seem made up of hard facts. They are a combination of multiplication tables and statistics. If you show them an exquisite picture, they will begin to discuss the pigments involved in the coloring. If you show them a beautiful rose, they will submit it to a botanical analysis, which is only the post mortem examination of a flower. They have no religion in their nature. They never do anything more than smile. There are no great tides of feeling surging up from the depths of their souls in billow after billow of reverent laughter. They seem as if nature had built them by contract and made a bungling job out of it. But, blessed be God, there are people in the world who have bright faces, and whose life is a song, an anthem, a psalm of victory. Even their troubles are like the vines that crawl up the side of a great tower, on the top of which the sunlight sets and the soft airs of summer hold perpetual carnival. They are the people you like to have come to your house; they are people I like to have come to my house. If you but touch the hem of their garments you are healed. Now, it is those exuberant and sympathetic and warm-hearted people that are most tempted to pernicious amusements. In proportion as a ship is swift it wants a strong helmsman; in proportion as a boat is gay it wants a stout driver; and those people of exuberant nature will do well to look at the reaction of all their amusements. If an amusement sends you home at night nervous so you cannot sleep, and you rise in the morning, not because you are slept out, but because your duty drags you from your slumber, you have been where you ought not to have been. There are amusements that send a man next day to his work blood-shot, yawning, stupid, nauseated, and they are the wrong kind of amusements. There are entertainments that give a man disgust with the drudgery of life, with tools because they are not swords, with work-sprons because they are not robes, with cattle because they are not infuriated bulls of the arena. If any amusement sends you home longing for a life of romance and thrilling adventure, love that takes poison and shoots itself, moonlight adventures and hair-breadth escapes, you may depend upon it that you are the sacrificed victim of unsanctified pleasure. Our recreations are intended to build us up, or if they pull us down as to our moral or as to our physical strength, you may come to the conclusion that they are obnoxious.

Still further; those amusements are wrong which lead you into expenditure beyond your means. Money spent in recreation is not thrown away. It is all folly for us to come from a place of amusement feeling that we have wasted our money and time. You may by it have made an investment worth more than the transaction that yielded you a hundred or a thousand dollars. But how many properties have been riddled by costly amusements? The table has been robbed to pay the club. The champagne has cheated the children's wardrobe. The carousing party has burned up the boy's primer. The table cloth of the corner saloon is in debt to the wife's faded dress. Excursions that in a day make a tour around a whole month's wages; ladies whose life-time business is to "go shopping" have their counter-parts in uneducated children, bankruptcies that shock the money market and appall the church and that send drunk-ennies staggering across the richly-furnished carpet of the mansion and dashing into the mirror and drowning out the carol of music with the whooping of bloated souls come home to break their old mother's heart. When men go into amusements that they can not afford they first borrow what they cannot earn, and then they steal what they cannot borrow. First they go into embarrassments and then into lying, and then into theft, and when a man gets as far on as that he does not stop short of the penitentiary. There is not a prison in the land where there are not victims of unsanctified amusements. How often I have had parents come to me and ask me to go over to New York and beg their boy off from crimes that he had committed against his employer—the taking of funds out of the employer's till or the disarrangement of the accounts. Why, he had salary enough to pay all lawful expenditure, but not enough salary to meet his sinful amusements. And again and again I have gone and implored for the young man, sometimes, alas! the petition unavailing. Merchant of New York, is there a disarrangement in your accounts? Is there a leakage in your money-drawer? Did not the cash account come out right last night? I will tell you. There is a young man in your store wandering off into bad amusements. The salary you give him may meet lawful expenditures, but not the sinful indulgences in which he has entered, and he takes by theft that which you do not give him in lawful salary.

How brightly the path of unrestrained amusement opens! The young man says: "Now, I am off for a good time. Never mind economy. I'll get money somehow. What a fine road. What a beautiful day for a ride! Crack the whip and over the turpicks! Come, boys, fill high your glasses. Drink! Long life, health, plenty of rides just like this!" Hard workingmen hear the clatter of the horse and look up and say: "Why I wonder where those fellows get their money from. We have to toil and drudge. They do nothing." To these gay men life is a thrill and an excitement. They stare at other people and are in turn stared at. The watch-chain jingles. The topknots. The cheeks flush. The eyes flash. The midnight bears their gulf. They swagger. They jostle decent men of the sidewalk. They take the name of God in vain. They parody the hymn they learned at their mother's knee! and to all pictures of coming disaster they cry out: "Who cares?" and to the counsel of some christian friend, "Who are you?" Passing along the street some night you hear a shriek in a grog-shop, the rattle of the watchman's club, the rush of the police. What is the matter now? Oh, this reckless young man has been killed in a grog-shop fight. Carry him home to his father's house. Parents will come down and wash his wound and close his eyes in death. They forgive him all he ever did, though he cannot in his silence ask it. The prodigal has got home at last. Mother will go to her little garden and get the sweetest flowers and tuck them in a chapel for the silent heart of the wayward boy, and push back from the boarded brow the long locks that were once her pride, and the air will be rent with the father's cry: "Oh, my son, my son, my poor son! Would to God I had died for thee, oh my son, my son!"

You may judge of amusements by their effect upon physical health. The great need of many good people is physical recuperation. There are christian men who write hard things against their immortal souls when there is nothing the matter with them but an incompetent liver. There are christian people who seem to think that it is a good sign to be poorly, and because Richard Baxter and Robert Hall were invalids, they think that by the same sickness they may come to the same grandeur of character. I want to tell the christian people of my congregation that God will hold you responsible for your invalidism if it is your fault, and when through right exercise and prudence you might be athletic and well. The effect of the body upon the soul you acknowledge. Put a man of mild disposition upon the animal diet of which the Indian partakes and in a little while his blood will change its chemical proportions. It will become like unto the blood of the lion or the tiger or the bear, while his disposition will change and become fierce, cruel and unrelenting. The body has a powerful effect on the soul. There are good people whose ideas of heaven are all shut out with clouds of tobacco smoke. There are people who dare shatter the physical vase in which God put the jewel of eternity. There are men with great hearts and intellects in bodies worn-out by their own neglect; magnificent machinery, capable of propelling a Great Eastern across the Atlantic; yet fastened in a rickety North river propeller. Physical development which merely shows itself in fabulous lifting, or in petulant rope walking or in pugilistic encounters, exciting only our contempt. But we confess to great admiration for the man who has a great soul in an athletic body, every nerve, muscle and bone of which is consecrated to right uses. Oh! it seems to me outrageous that men through neglect, should allow their physical health to go down beyond repair, spending the rest of their life, not in some great enterprise for God and the world, but in studying what is the best thing to take for dyspepsia. A ship which ought with all sails set and every man at his post, to be carrying a rich cargo for eternity, employing all its men in stopping up leakages! When you may, through some of the popular and healthful recreations of our time, work off your spleen and your querulousness and one half of your physical and mental ailments, do not turn your back for such a grand medicament.

Again judge of places of amusement by the companionship into which they put you. If you belong to an organization where you have to associate with the intemperate, with the unclean, with the abandoned, however well they may be dressed, in the name of God quit it. They will despoil your nature. They will undermine your moral character. They will drop you when you are destroyed. They will give you one cent to support your children, when you are dead. They will weep not a tear at your burial. They will chuckle over your damnation. But the day comes when the men who have exerted such influence upon their fellows will be brought to judgment. Hence, the last day. Stage, the rocking earth. Enter dukes, lords, kings, beggars, clowns. No sword, no tin, no crown. For footlights, the kindling flames of a world. For orchestra, the trumpets that wake the dead. For gallery, the clouds, filled with angel spectators. For applause, the clapping floods of the sea. For curtains, the heavens rolled up on a scroll. For tragedy, the doom of the destroyed. For farce, the effort to serve the world and God at the same time. For the last scene of the fifth act, the tramp of nations—some to the right others to the left.

Again, any amusement that gives you a distaste for domestic life is bad. How many bright domestic circles have been broken up by sinful amusements! The father went off, the mother went off, the child went off. There to-day the fragments before me of blasted households. Oh, if you had wandered away, I would like to charm you back by the sound of that one word, "Home." Do you not know that you have but little more time to give to domestic welfare? Do you not see, father, that your children are soon to go out in the world and all the influences for good you are to have over them you must have now? Death will break in on your conjugal relations, and, alas, if you have to stand over the grave of one who perished from your neglect! I saw a wayward husband standing at the death bed of his christian wife, and I saw her point to a ring on her finger I heard her say to her husband: "Do you see that ring?" He replied: "Yes, I see it." "Well," said she, "do you remember who put it there?" "Yes," said he, "I put it there," and all the past seemed to rush upon him. By the memory of that day when in the presence of men and the angels you promised to be faithful in joy and sorrow, and in sickness and in health; by the memory of those pleasant hours when you sat together in your new home, talking of a bright future by the cradle, and the joyful hour when one life was spared and another given; by that sick-bed when the little one lifted up the hands and called for help and you knew he must die, and he put one arm around each of your necks and brought you very near together in that dying kiss; by the grave in Greenwood, that you never think of without a rush of tears; by the Family Bible, where in its stories of heavenly love is the brief but expressive record berths and deaths; by the neglects of the past, and by the agonies of the future; by a judgment day, when husbands and wives, parents and children, in immortal groups will stand to be caught up in shining array, or to shrink down into darkness; by all that, I beg you to give to home your best affections. I look in your eyes to-day, and I ask you the question that Gehazi asked of the Shunamite: "Is it well with thee? Is it well with thy husband? Is it well with thy child?" (God grant that it may be everlastingly well!)

Let me say to all young men, your style of amusement will decide your eternal destiny. One night I saw a young man at the street corner, evidently doubting as to which direction he had better take. He had his hat lifted high enough so you could see he had an intelligent forehead; stout chest. He had a robust development. Splendid young man; cultured young man; honored young man. Why did he stop there while so many were going up and down? The fact is that every man has a good angel and a bad angel outdaring for the mastery of his spirit; and there was a good angel and a bad angel struggling for that man's soul at the corner of the street. "Come with me," said the good angel. "I will take you home. I will spread my wings over your pathway. I will lovingly escort you all through life. I will bless every cup you drink out of, every couch you rest on, every doorway you enter. I will consecrate your tears when you weep, your sweat when you toil, and at the last I will hand over your grave into the hand of the bright angel of a christian resurrection. In answer to your father's petition and your mother's prayer I have been sent of the Lord out of heaven to be your guardian spirit. Come with me!" said the good angel in a voice of unearthly sympathy. It was music like that which drops from a lure of heaven when a seraph breathes on it. "No, no," said the bad angel. "Come with me. I have something better to offer. The wines I pour out are from chalices of bewitching carousal; the dance I lead is over floor tasseled with unrestrained indulgences; there is no God to frown upon the temples of sin where I worship. The skies are Italian; the paths I tread are through meadows dazed and primrose. 'Come with me!' The young man hesitated at a time when hesitation was ruin, and the bad angel smote the good angel until it departed, spreading wings through the starlight upward and away until a door flashes open in the sky and forever the wings vanished. That was the turning point in that young man's history, for, the good angel down, he hesitated no longer, but started on a pathway which is beautiful at the opening, but blasted at the last. The bad angel, leading the way, opened gate after gate, and at each gate the road became rougher, and the sky more lurid, and what was peculiar, as the gate slammed shut it came to with a jar that indicated that it would never open. Passed each portal, there was a grinding of looks and a shoving of bolts; and the scenery on either side of the road changed from gardens to deserts, and the June air became a cutting December blast, and the bright wings of the bad angel turned to sackcloth, and the eyes of light became hollow with hopeless grief, and the fountains, that at the start had tumbled with wine, poured forth bubbling tears and foaming blood, and on the right side of the road there was a serpent, and the man said to the bad angel: "What is that serpent?" And the answer was: "That is the serpent of stinging remorse." On the left side of the road there was a lion, and the man asked the bad angel: "What is that lion?" And the answer was: "That is the lion of all-devouring despair." A vulture flew through the sky, and the man asked the bad angel: "What is that vulture?" And then the man began to try to pull off of him the folds of something that had wound him round and round, and he said to the bad angel: "What is it that twists me in this awful convulsion?" And the answer was: "That is the worm that never dies!" And then the man said to the bad angel: "What does all this mean?" I trusted in what you said at the corner of the street that night. I trusted it all, and why have you thus deceived me?" Then the last deception fell off the charmer and it said: "I was sent forth from the pit to destroy your soul. I watched my chance for many a long year. When you hesitated that night on the street I gained my triumph. Now you are here. Ha! ha! You are here. Come, now, let us fill these two chalices of fire and drink together in darkness and woe and death. Ha! ha! ha!"

O young man, will the good angel sent forth by Christ or the bad angel sent forth by sin get the victory over your soul? Their wings are interlocked this moment above you, contending for your destiny, as above the Apennine eagle and condor fight midway. This hour may decide your destiny. God help you! To hesitate is to die.

"One hundred doves one dollar" is true only of Hood's Merganser pills, and it is an admirable argument as to strength and economy.

With the Biggest of Big Shows Krao—The Living Missing Link.

John B. Doris' New Monster Shows, united with the great Inter-Ocean—twelve mammoth shows combined—which comprises triple circuses in three big separate rings, megatherian museum, deep sea aquarium, elevated theatre stage, and fifty cage Menagerie, will make its appearance at Fort Wayne, Tuesday, May 12.

This mighty aggregation is universally proclaimed the grandest tented exhibition in existence, and is familiarly and reputationally known throughout the entire country. Mr. Doris, by his able management and millions of money, has placed before the public an honorable, straight-forward show, truly fulfilling every advertised promise, positively ignoring all bombastic misrepresentation, by presenting every proposition of reality and truth. By so doing the New Monster shows, combined with the great Inter-Ocean, command the respect and consideration of every intelligent reader.

The list of wonderful exclusive features is exceptionally large. First and foremost is Krao, the living missing link, daughter of a tribe of hairy men and women—a race of people who live in trees. Acknowledged to be the greatest mysterious feature living. The wonder of scientists. What Darwinians have sought for at last. A polyglot surprise to ethnologists. Krao is a human being and lived on roots, nuts, grass, etc. She was brought to this country in October, 1881, and has only been exhibited in the seven largest cities since that time. She returns to Westminster Aquarium, London, this fall. This is her first and last season in America, don't fail to see her, with John B. Doris' new monster shows.

People that know Mr. Pendleton's family will believe that the German mission is particularly suited to him. The whole family speak German fluently, and Mrs. Pendleton is likely to prefer the comparative plainness of living in Pe to the costly show of Paris. While in Cincinnati the Senator and his family lived in elegant simplicity. Mrs. Pendleton and her daughters attended a little sort of mission church near their Liberty street residence.

The taint of scrofula in the blood. With many it is hereditary; but it may also be acquired from want of air or lack of exercise, from improper food, or any cause which brings about weakness of the body and impurity of the blood. The disease is characterized by running sores, abscesses, swellings, enlarged joints, sore eyes, etc. No medicine has been so successful in curing scrofula, as Hood's Sarsaparilla. The most terrible running sores gradually disappear under the purifying and strengthening influence of this great medicine. If you are a sufferer from scrofula and desire more evidence as to the wonderful success of Hood's Sarsaparilla, send to C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass., for a book containing many remarkable cures.

Portraits of Some of the Newly Appointed Foreign Ministers.

A. M. KELLEY, MINISTER TO AUSTRIA.

Anthony M. Kelley, our new representative to the Austrian Court, is a lawyer of prominence and successful practice at Richmond, Va. He has been Mayor of that city, and was for several years Chairman of the Democratic State Committee. The Democratic Congressmen from Virginia unanimously voted his appointment to a foreign mission.

CHARLES W. BUEH, MINISTER TO PERU.

President Cleveland's appointment as Minister to Peru is a Louisville lawyer of ability and considerable local reputation both as a jurist and scientist, his chief studies in the latter line having been principally in the direction of entomology, for which he has a passion. In his appointment to the Peruvian mission, the administration has definitely recognized a section of the United States, the identity of interests of which is becoming constantly more fully admitted.

THE DECREASE OF GOLD.

A Serious Financial Problem.

(Washington special to Chicago Times.)

One month ago attention was called in these dispatches not merely to the decrease of gold and increase of silver owned by the Government, but to the fact that the decrease of gold and the increase of silver was going on in an accelerating ratio. A striking exhibit of that fact is made in the Treasurer's statement of assets and liabilities on the 1st of May. On Jan. 2, 1884, the Government owned $154,000,000 of gold, a decrease of a little more than a million a month. Three months later, April 1, 1885, it owned $145,000,000 of gold, a decrease of more than $9,000,000 a month. The exact figures for a month ago were $123,793,256. On the 1st of May the Government owned $117,927,334 of gold, a loss in thirty days of $5,865,922. At the rate of loss for the past month the gold in the Treasury would last about fifteen months, but as each month shows a much larger decrease than the month before, it may be doubted whether the supply of gold will last till the end of the calendar year.

Of course, this reduction of the stock of gold is due to the fact that the Government is paying out gold and taking in silver.

Last February some New York bankers expressed to a high officer of the Treasury their opinion that if the silver coinage were suspended in August, 1886, it would be enough to prevent any change in the monetary standard, but at the same time the Government's gold is turning into silver it will have to sell its gold or will have to compel its creditors to take silver long before August of next year. Look at the increase of silver in Uncle Sam's pocket. The increase in 1881 was something more than $10,000,000 a month. In the first three months of the year it increased about $7,000,000. Last month it increased nearly $9,000,000. The figures are $2,374,025.

The following is a statement of the coinage issued at the mint of the United States during the month of April, 1886:

Denomination.	Pieces.	Value.
Double eagles	1,000	$20,000
Eagles	10,000	100,000
Half eagles	20,000	100,000
Quarter eagles	40,000	100,000
Gold coins	70,000	1,400,000
Standard silver coins	1,000,000	2,000,000
Trade dollars	200,000	2,000,000
Total	1,270,000	$3,600,000

Princess Bernadotte will be married in Washington church either July 22 or 24.

Ex-President Hayes was down at a Grand Hotel in New York recently.

"LIONEL SACKVILLE WEST," writes a Washington correspondent, "is of middle height, with inconspicuous features, a pair of large, and blue eyes, and a lock of wavy and curled hair, which can only be traced from health or ill health. He is of middle age, quite bald, and slightly gray. His coat dress is notable as the most heavily embroidered among the egarons. It is embroidered in gold bullion until it is as stiff as a corrus, and the only place where the cloth is visible is on the back, between the collar and the shoulder blades."

Such is an advertisement, taken from a recent issue of the London Times Journal, which suggests that in the matter of shrewd advertising the English can easily hold their own. "The ladies going into mourning through the unfortunate war in the Sudan, having their wardrobes to dispose of, Mrs. would be honored by their patronage. Furniture, carriages, jewelry, and plate bought. Money sent the same day for country parcels. New streets, Dursley square, N. W. No post cards."

THE EDITOR AND THE BOOK AGENTS.

We can stand a book agent, provided he is of the masculine denomination. We are not afraid of him. We know that he is coming and can deal with him without buying his book. He may be pompous and courtly or he may be pimpled and cadaverous; his lips may be betwined with honeyed flatteries; he may be oily and crafty in his approaches; he may modestly ask for "just a moment of our precious time;" he may say that he only craves the use of our name, or he may charge in upon us and seek to carry us by storm. This does not matter with us. He is a man, and so are we in a small way, and we have our rights. We tell him what we will and what we won't, and that ends it.

But when she comes, then is the winter of our discontent. We low to the storm, and have no remarks to submit. All the hidden resources of our politeness are called into requisition. She is a woman and has the advantage of us. She has seen better days, and has a tear in her eye. She belongs to an old family and swam in luxury in her youth. Little cares she for money; character is everything with her. She is working in the interests of literature and to lift up society. Her book is for the home circle, and is destined to ennoble the character of mothers, and in that way to add glory to our Republic institutions.

She came the other day. How glib and rattling she was! She had us before we knew it. She had us sitting as erect as a sunbeam in July, and meekly nodding assent to her sage observations. We neither moved hand nor foot, and, as for talking, we had no chance. She talked fast, and she talked long, and she talked all the time. After regaling us with the grandeur of her ancestry, the pleasures of her childhood, and the surpassing excellence of her book, she touched us up. She did it handsomely. She expatiated on the potency of our influence, the value of our personal signature, and the well-known warmth and kindness of our heart. Greatness, she hinted, always had a tear on its cheek for the struggling and unfortunate. And there we were—dumb and foolish, a victim to her spell. Time came and went, but she went on, and on, and on. We felt fatigued and lonesome, and wondered how it would end. Finally, she gradually descended from her circumlocutory flight, and lit in the region of business. The atmosphere became commercial, and it was a question of dollars and cents. She had a book for sale and desired to sell us a copy. It seemed to be a question of ancestry, and the poetry and praise all faded away. The spell was broken, and all we had to do was to say whether or not we would buy the book.

We did it as well as we could—we spoke in a bright and respectful tone—we even thanked her for her visit—we paid her a tribute to her brilliant conversational gifts—we wished her high fortune and a golden future, and expressed regret that it had to be so. How her whole aspect changed she patted her foot with petulance, her face flushed, she breathed wildly, and swept angrily away.

And yet truly we felt sorry for her. It hurt us to think of her hard lot and her desperate devices to stem the tide of adverse fortune. We would have bought her book, except that we could not conscientiously pay an exorbitant price for a useless article.—Richmond (Va.) Religious Herald.

BEAUTY ON THE STAGE.

John Hollingshead, the London theatrical manager, in an interview printed in the Full Mail Gazette, says: "I contend that no person, man or woman, has a right to enter the profession unless he, and particularly she, has physical beauty. I want in a woman a pretty face, a sympathetic voice, a liesome figure, a good presence. With a man it is the same. He should be handsome to succeed. A handsome jenne premier has a much larger income than one of Mr. Gladstone's secretaries, and a livelier time, too. A Grecian nose, a well cut mouth, a nicely curled mustache, a pair of soft eyes (hazel for a choice), small feet and hands, hair, color indifferent, red barrel, but carefully brushed, five feet eight, unexceptionably taller, and there you are. A fashionable jenne premier may rise to $80 a week. Brains? No consequence; none whatever. Good manners much more valuable. 'I have laughed till the tears rolled down my cheeks at Mr. Terry's drolleries; Mr. Toole would put a shrew in good temper, so would Mr. Pinley, Mr. Hill, or Mr. Boulton, but do you consider them good types of physical beauty?' 'Ah, that is quite a different matter. A low comedian needs no physical charms; indeed, they would rather clog his progress in his profession.'"

PROFESSOR AN ALIEN.

A clergyman at Cambridge preached a sermon which one of his audience commended. "Yes," said the gentleman to whom it was mentioned, "it was a good sermon, but he stole it." This was told to the preacher. He resented it, and called on the gentleman to retract what he had said. "I am not," said the aggressor, "very apt to retract my words, but in this instance I will. I said you had stolen the sermon; I find I was wrong, for on my return home, and referring to the book whence I thought it was taken, I found it there."—Mary's Monthly.

Her Underlings Were Well Matched.

"You didn't leave no umbrella here. You must have dropped it somewhere."

Practical and Theoretical Chemistry.

"Young position," said the lecturer in chemistry, "is exposed to the elements of loss 10 per cent of its weight and power. This is due to the action of the elements of loss."

"But what if there is a dog sleeping now the only professor?"

"None of our faculty, young man, this is a serious matter."

"That's what I thought when 72 per cent of his body disappeared during the last of the year. Then he asked me to give a student in chemistry and I told him to have a dog. He bought a dog with a wooden tooth and the spirit left him in a few minutes. That's the kind of professor I want. Now go on with your theory."

We Know It Would Come to This.

The dog is a break in the fence.

Why His Other Papa was Flunking.

"I don't know," said the young man, "but I have heard that the other papa was flunking."

"Have you heard anything about it?"

"Well, yes, but I don't know. Why do you ask?"

"My other papa always said that was a good thing to hear."

A Narrow Escape.

Yesterday afternoon about 4:30 two men, M. Cramer and Geo. Borg, painters in the Pittsburg shop, were scaling paint from an engine cab. An alcohol lamp used to burn or soften the paint, exploded, enveloped everything around them in flames and set fire to Borg's clothing. He ran frantically through the shop in his blazing clothes but was stopped by fellow workmen, who covered him with coats and over-shirts, smothering the fire. Mr. Borg was taken home and medical attendance called. He is badly burned but can entirely recover.

The Juveniles at the Academy. The Toledo evening Rec. says: "A large audience greeted the return of the Hollywood Juvenile Opera company to the People's theater last evening. The little fairies were as winsome and attractive as ever, 'Baby Clara' and 'Master Dick, as Cinderella and Prince Poppetti respectively captured the audience at the very outset. The entire company is composed of clever little people who know how to entertain and those who fail to see them will miss a genuine treat."

May Again Prolonged.

The eminent English specialist, Dr. Nicholls, will not leave this week as advertised, but will, on account of the increasing number of his patients, prolong his stay until further notice. The doctor's success has been phenomenal and his longer stay will be gladly greeted by his numerous patients and friends. Probably no physician ever visited Fort Wayne who has a practice so extensive among some of our best people, as that with which Dr. Nicholls has been favored. There is but one reasonable view as to the secret of his great success and that is his ability to cure. The doctor demonstrates this fact, as is attested by hundreds of his patients. Every afflicted person should thoroughly read his new advertisement.

"Was ever woman in this humor mood?" "Was ever woman in this humor mood?"

Of course not. Don't try to make love to a woman who is all out of sorts with dyspepsia or nervous prostration. First make her a present of a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters. Then when her digestive apparatus is in order, and her nerves toned up, go and see her. Mrs. Seal, of Clinton, Ia., says, "My health has been greatly improved by using Brown's Iron Bitters." It cures dyspepsia, indigestion, etc.

Nevada population has dwindled to 30,000, and it is said that the average tax per head on every man, woman, child, Indian, Chinaman, pauper, jail-bird, and tramp in Nevada, for county and State purposes, can not be less than $30.

And now it is proposed to supercede lard with vaseline in making pastry and cake, on the plea that, no matter how stale they are, they will not become rancid. This is a boon for railway lunch counters. Medical experts say that while vaseline may not be nutritious, it won't do any harm.

A CARD from Edith Dammann.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 7, 1885.

To the Public:

I have suffered from female weakness, pain in my side and liver and kidneys, and have doctor for years, until my life was despaired of. The doctors I had gave me no relief, and I was then advised to give Dr. West a trial, and I did so, and the result is that in ten days I found the greatest relief, and in four weeks was well and hearty and had a good appetite. Thanks to Dr. West. The sufferer will do well to try him. Any one wishing to see me may call at 40 Chicago St., Fort Wayne.
